Event Marketing

All successful applicants will feature on the RubyBelle Events website in TWO categories on the Shop the Artisan Wedding Market Page. You will also receive a dedicated page for the Event, and be promoted by me on various social media channels in the run up to the Online Wedding Market itself.

I will also be writing a blog including images on each of your companies attending the Event, which will be shared and displayed on the Website & Social Media Channels.

The Event will also be Marketed by Your West Midlands Wedding Magazine in the form of a paid advertisement in the February/March and April/May Issues and a blog post written specifically about RubyBelle Events & the unique format of The Artisan Wedding Market.

RubyBelle Events cannot be held responsible for footfall in numbers to the website or social media channels.

I will of course advertise all events to the best of my ability and will share this with you beforehand.

I do ask that all exhibitors and stallholders help with promotion of the Event by sharing with their mailing list, followers and Brides to be.

I will provide promotional Event material in order to help with this.

Thank you for allowing me to promote your amazing businesses and helping this very strange time for Weddings a little bit brighter!
